THIS is the second year for the Elkland Chapter of Future Farmers of America. There are twenty-two members in the organization this year. Several boys have already distinguished themselves by receiving awards for their project books and exhibits at the Mansfield Fair, and in the county project contest. Neal Butler received a first place award for his beef cattle project book and "Fort" Colegrove and "Boney" Davenport received first and third place awards respectively for vegetable garden projects. "Boney" attended the "F. F. A. Week" activities at Penn State College last summer. He participated in the Farm Mechanics division of the contests there and also pitched the Tioga County Soft-ball team into the final playoff. Last spring the F. F. A. boys set over 9,000 trees on farms in the community. The E. H. S. and F. F.A. basketball team is keeping Elkland High on the map by proving that farmers can play basketball too.

Nine boys represented Elkland Chapter at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show this year. Four of them---- Jim Davis, Fort Colegrove, Lee Button, and Lawrence Spencer participated in the F. F. A. Vocational Demonstrations. Among other activities in which Elkland's Future Farmers participated are: tractor driving contests, poultry and livestock judging contests and parliamentary procedure contests.

NINETEEN hundred and fifty-two marks the end of the fourth year that the Commercial Course has been included in the curriculum of Elkland High School. It consists of Typing I and II, Bookkeeping, and Shorthand I and II.

The enrollment tends to increase as more and more students realize the practicality and usefulness of this course. This year, due to the increased enrollment, it was necessary to place the Typing I and II students into two sections.

The Commercial Course gives a student sufficient business training so that at graduation he has a choice of two plans. He may obtain a position in an office or further his business education by attending a business college. The high school commercial training gives a student a find background for college work.

Even the student who goes on to other courses in college will find the knowledge of typing and shorthand invaluable in his classwork.

industrial arts

THE Industrial Arts course offers an opportunity for pupils to acquire skills which will be of great value to boys in future life.

This is the third year of Industrial Arts in Elkland. Under the direction of Mr. Whalen many interesting projects have been completed by the boys of the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades.

driver training

THIS is the second year of the Driver Training course taught by Mr. William Whalen. The course consists of class room instruction and actual driving under all weather conditions. Many students have successfully completed the course this year, and are well trained to operate motor vehicles.

We wish to extend our thanks to Frank's Chevrolet for donating the use of the 1951 Chevrolet used in the training.

Second Row: Cevette, Schoonover, Enderle, Blake, Dornsife, Simonetti.
First Row: Co-Captains, Russell, Watkins.

WE have had a considerably good season this year. Our star forwards were both crippled at games with remarkably quick recoveries and better playing than ever.

Co-Captains Don Russell and Benny Watkins along with Patsy Cevette are our high scoring trio this year, while Gordon Blake and Ray Dornsife control the bankboards for rebounds. They also manage to help out on the scoring end, too.

Benny's speed, Russell's long shots, Patsy's high scores, along with good sportsmanship and cooperation from Ray and Gordon have brought us many victories.

Hats off to a swell team!

MAYBE these Freshman and Sophomore boys didn't look like much when they came on the court for the first few games this year, but, since then, we have found out that our J.V. team can win games for E. H. S. in good style. When they come out next year we shall find a better team of which we can be proud.

THE school opened the season with a bang as they won three straight as Savona, Addison and Cowanesque dropped 6-4, 4-1, and 5-1 games respectively, to the local team. The downfall came over to Mansfield as the college town boys bested Elkland 3-2 and took over first place in the Tioga County race.

The next game found Elkland having to play 2 extra quarters to be a stubborn Tioga eleven 4-3. At Covington in the following week, the school again had an extra quarter game but this time they couldn't pull it out of the fire as the game ended Elkland 2 and Covington 2.

Elkland again had a three game winning streak as they outkicked Cowanesque 3-2, then smashed Mansfield 6-0 for the surprise game of the year--at least to Mansfield! In the third game of the second winning streak they outscored Tioga 2-1.

The last game of the season found Mansfield and Elkland tied up which meant that if Mansfield lost to Tioga and Elkland beat Covington, Elkland would be Champs or vice-versa but as it was Tioga beat Mansfield 2-1 and Covington edged Elkland 3-2. Then Elkland and Mansfield e[illegible]e season as Co-Champs.
